Attention Seeking

 All people, especially children, need attention!

Ways to give positive attention:

- ✓ Compliments
- ✓ Noticing strengths
- ✓ Classroom jobs
- ✓ Happy Grams
- ✓ Good News phone calls
- ✓ Lunch with teacher
- ✓ Pats on the back

Don't!

- ✗ Show annoyance
- ✗ Coax
- ✗ Remind
- ✗ Punish

When students get attention in positive ways, they usually do not seek to belong through misbehavior.

Great Behavior = Great Friends

GRADES: 2-5

 Objective: To review what students have learned during the small group sessions on positive behavior.

Materials:

- “How to be a Great Friend!” worksheet
- Pencils

Directions:

1. Explain to the students that we will quickly review what they have learned during the group sessions (discuss questions below) and then they will complete a worksheet on their own.
2. Students complete the worksheet.
3. Review answers on the worksheet after all have finished.
4. Encourage students to take the worksheets home and share what they have learned with their parents.

* Questions:

1. How does keeping your hands and feet to yourself help you make friends?
2. If you listen when others are talking, does that help you have friends? Why or why not.
3. Name some different ways to show respect.
4. Is it okay to feel angry?
5. Name some things you should not do when you are angry.
6. Name some good things to do when angry.
7. Does keeping your anger under control help you to have more friends? Why or why not.
8. Explain how we worked as a team during our group sessions.
